

Now Available In The United States
Direct From The Original German Infrared Body Wrap Manufacturers
KONTUR™ INFRARED BODY WRAP SYSTEM

The Kontur™ Infrared Body Wrap System provides a non-invasive alternative to traditional body wrap treatments. Unlike traditional body wraps that use disposable bandages and messy solutions during the procedure, the Kontur uses non-allergenic silicone pads. The treatment bandages are manufactured in a special manual process under constant quality control processes. In 27 years of production, we have ensured that all aspects of modern infrared technology are incorporated into the bandages. The quality control is evidenced by their durability, high flexibility and ergonomic fit. We follow strict guidelines and regulations so that the silicone is skin friendly and safe.

There are many benefits of the Kontur's infrared heat. The heat penetrates 1.5" into the body reaching muscles, fat stores and even the bone, promoting increased blood flow and circulation, which increases the metabolism and energy consumption.

Therapeutic results are achieved after each Kontur treatment. Typical benefits of infrared heat include:

- Burning calories – up to 1,400 per session
- Body contouring & slimming
- Diminishing the appearance of cellulite
- Stress relief
- Pain management
- Smoothing & rejuvenation of the skin
- Cellular detoxification

The customer is able to relax for the whole session as the application and removal of the pads can be done in 2–3 minutes.

The Kontur® Far Infrared Body Wrap system has been manufactured in Germany since 1983. It was originally developed for therapeutic purposes to treat people with severe rheumatoid arthritis and joint mobility problems. Subsequently it was discovered that consistent weight loss was being achieved and a study was undertaken in a German Medical University to check its effectiveness for weight and size loss and degenerative joint and spinal column illnesses under clinical conditions. Furthermore, Infrared panels are used in hospitals for premature babies and NASA used infrared heat to maintain performance of astronauts on space missions.

The results of the Kontur® Clinical Study indicated that on average, the control groups results were:

With diet: an average of 13 pounds lost in 10 sessions and between 2 1/2 and 3 inches lost in the thighs, abdomen and hips.

Without diet: an average of 8 pounds lost in 10 sessions and between 1 and 2 inches lost in the thighs, abdomen and hips.

How does the Kontur Infrared Body Wrap work?

As the body warms, in addition to sweating, the blood thins and the speed at which it circulates around the body increases, while the body tries to cool itself down. The effect is to raise the temperature at the extremities of the body to the same temperature at the core of the body – a temperature at which fat can be broken down. The increased blood supply is forced into areas of the body which typically have poor circulation – especially with people that are carrying too much weight or have other metabolic issues – where fat, excess body fluids and toxins are deposited. Toxins are both water based (residing in body fluids) and oil based (residing in fat tissue). The combination of the heat, which breaks down fluids and fat, and the improved blood supply, helps to carry away these deposits via the body's natural sweating and waste disposal processes.

Using the Kontur Infrared body wrap has many benefits that can be achieved in as little as one session, with accelerated benefits after multiple uses. Enjoy your convenient and relaxing session today! Call to set up your appointment today!